

Bonds | Mon Oct 15, 2007 8:22am EDT

Related: U.S., BONDS, HOUSING MARKET

Miami condo market faces moment of truth in 2008

MIAMI | BY JIM LONEY

The exterior of one of the buildings in the Ocean Club, a condominium complex on Key Biscayne in Miami, August 28, 2007. Prices in Miami's condominium market -- a poster child of the real estate boom that swept much of the United States until 2005 -- seem to have held up...
REUTERS/JOE SKIPPER

Workers are painting, patching stucco and peeling protective plastic from gleaming panes of balcony glass at a new 1,000-unit condo called The Plaza, two towers that rise 43 and 56 stories over Miami's bank district.

A mile to the north, the exotic stonework at a new 500-unit downtown tower known as 50 Biscayne has been polished and the first residents closed on their contracts this month.

Prices in Miami's condominium market -- a poster child of the real estate boom that swept much of the United States until 2005 -- seem to have held up relatively well to date.

But the opening of a raft of big complexes has analysts predicting the market -- fueled by a frenetic construction spree that saw cranes sprout like mushrooms on the skyline -- is edging toward a cliff.

Values may be poised for a wrenching tumble in the next year as thousands of units in the downtown and Brickell banking districts are readied for residents, analysts say.

As a result, the vultures are circling. Hedge funds and private equity pools are busy scouting locations where they can snap up dozens or hundreds of units at sharp discounts to hold as rentals for up to 10 years, until the market turns.

"Everybody thinks south Florida is on sale," said Peter Zalewski of real estate consultancy Condo Vultures, who is advising private equity buyers. "They're all coming to kick the tires."

Futures traders on the CME Group exchange are predicting Miami will be the worst U.S. regional housing market over the next four years with prices falling nearly 30 percent.

Experts have been predicting a fall for Florida condo prices since the market peaked in late 2005. In Miami, sales figures have been falling for months but prices have been resilient as sellers refuse to budge.

Our top photos from the past week. Slideshow »

TRENDING ON REUTERS

Sponsored Financial Content

Day Trading: 15 Secrets to Success - Free 6 page guide Guardian Stockbrokers

Open a Forex Account and Get 60% Bonus on All Deposits. IronFX

Top 10 Trading Mistakes with CFDs - Free 5 page guide Guardian Stockbrokers

Increase your knowledge of CFD trading Guardian Stockbrokers

Essential Guide to Inheritance Tax - Free 7 page Guide Buckingham Gate

RECOMMENDED VIDEO

In August, for example, condo sales in Miami-Dade County dropped 44 percent while the median price rose 5 percent to $262,000, according to the Florida Association of Realtors.

But the number of condos on sale has climbed to 25,000, a 36-month supply, compared to six to 12 months in a healthy market.

Market analysts say vulture funds could move on a stone-cold market in the next year.

"We have $200 million to acquire distressed condo conversion projects in Florida," said Matthew Martinez, point-man for a Connecticut-based private equity fund. "We're looking at purchases of $7 million and up, all-cash."

Some analysts believe 2008 will be the turning point, when pre-construction buyers are forced to pony up the full purchase price or walk away from deposits, speculators feel the pain of holding too many properties and developers need to dump excess units at discounts of 30, 40 or even 50 percent.

"In May or so, the true blood is going to flow," Zalewski said. "Many of the hedge funds are looking for a minimum of 100 units in the same building."

UNPRECEDENTED BOOM-BUST

Miami's condo-building spree was the biggest in its history -- a history replete with booms, busts, and swampland scams.

At the peak some 60,000 units were under construction, planned or permitted in the city of Miami, whose 400,000 people represent only 16 percent of Miami-Dade County.

Some of those projects have been canceled. But the ones already underway and soon ready for residents are shrouded in uncertainty as buyers look to back away from contracts, unable to get mortgages or fearing they are paying too much.

"We have definitely not seen the bottom yet. In the next six to 12 months we'll see the beginnings of that moment of truth," said Brad Hunter of Metrostudy, a housing research firm.

"It could be 2012 to 2014 before this market needs to build more condos."

Between 2006 and 2009, one analyst said, developers will drop 28,000 new units into the Miami market. The downtown buildings are part of a daring plan to revitalize the city's dingy core, a few years ago a haven only for the homeless.

In just eight prominent buildings in the downtown and banking districts more than 6,600 units are nearly ready.

The Related Group, Florida's largest condo developer, expects The Plaza to be finished next month. The first tower of its 1,700-unit, $1.25 billion bayside Icon complex is scheduled for August of next year with the second following in December.

Another developer's 516-unit, $360-million tower called 900 Biscayne Bay is expected to be ready next spring. Down the street, the twin-tower, 870-unit Everglades on the Bay, is expected to be finished in the fall of 2008.

While conceding the market is tough, Related chief executive Jorge Perez said he is willing to join the hedge funds and private equity pools and has upward of $100 million to snap up unwanted units to hold as rentals.

"There isn't a city where I can see the type of growth Miami is going to experience," Perez said. "Given that, do we have a blip, whether it's two years or four years, where we're going to have it rough? No question about it."

A smaller Miami-area condo glut in the 1980s took six years to correct, analysts say. This one could be worse.

SPONSORED TOPICS

1. 5 Best Cars to Buy
2. 10 Best Cars 2015
3. Healthy Breakfast Ideas
4. Top 10 Cars to Buy
5. Best Retirement Investments
6. Precious Metals Investments

"I think we've only seen the tip of the iceberg in terms of the pain the market will see," Martinez said.

From The Web

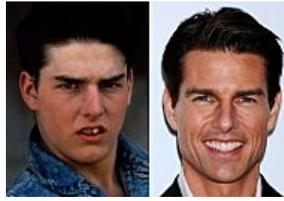

Sponsored Links by Taboola

Hidden Ways to Save on Hotels
Hotel Bargains Blog

Use interrupts to share data between programming
Intel

14 Celebrities Who Owe their Smiles to Plastic Surgery
Risotop.com

That's How You Find Awesome Cruise Deals!
Save70

Europe's Top 50 Tech Entrepreneurs
Financial Times

Warren Buffett Releases Monster 43-Page Half-Century Letter To TalkMarkets

More From Reuters

- German calls for Brexit mount as EU stunned by 'No' vote | 5 Jul
- Advice for Greece: Never play chicken with Germany | 2 Jul
- Failure of new U.S. weapons systems may be more than science fiction | 2 Jul
- Greek government must explain next step - Luxembourg PM | 5 Jul
- Greece will struggle to stay in euro | 6 Jul

Sponsored Financial Content

- Day Trading: 15 Secrets to Success - Free 6 page guide Guardian Stockbrokers
- Open a Forex Account and Get 60% Bonus on All Deposits. IronFX
- Essential Guide to Inheritance Tax - Free 7 page Guide Buckingham Gate
- Top 10 Trading Mistakes with CFDs - Free 5 page guide Guardian Stockbrokers
- Expert views on the global markets from RMG Wealth Management MarketViews

Sponsored Topics

1. Best Income Funds
2. Top Stock Picks
3. Penny Stocks to Invest In
4. Average Retirement Income
5. 2015 Best SUVs
6. Cheapest Cell Phone Plans
7. Security Camera Systems
8. Retirement Annuity Rates
9. Best Smartphones of 2015
10. Top Fuel Efficient Cars

↑ Back to top

Reuters.com

Business | Markets | World | Politics | Technology | Opinion | Money | Pictures | Videos | Site Index

More from Reuters

Reuters News Agency | Brand Attribution Guidelines | Delivery Options

Support & Contact

Support | Corrections

Account Information

Register | Sign In

Connect with Reuters

Twitter Facebook LinkedIn RSS Podcast New sletters Mobile

About

Privacy Policy | Terms of Use | Advertise With Us | AdChoices | Copyright

Thomson Reuters is the world's leading source of intelligent information for businesses and professionals.

THOMSON REUTERS
EIKON

Our Flagship financial information platform incorporating Reuters Insider

THOMSON REUTERS
ELEKTRON

An ultra-low latency infrastructure for electronic trading and data distribution

THOMSON REUTERS
ACCELUS

A connected approach to governance, risk and compliance

WestlawNext™

Our next generation legal research platform

ONESOURCE

Our global tax workstation

Thomsonreuters.com

About Thomson Reuters

Investor Relations

Careers

Contact Us

Thomson Reuters is the world's largest international multimedia news agency, providing investing news, world news, business news, technology news, headline news, small business news, news alerts, personal finance, stock market, and mutual funds information available on Reuters.com, video, mobile, and interactive television platforms. Thomson Reuters journalists are subject to an Editorial Handbook which requires fair presentation and disclosure of relevant interests.

NYSE and AMEX quotes delayed by at least 20 minutes. Nasdaq delayed by at least 15 minutes. For a complete list of exchanges and delays, please click here.