

Occupy South Florida: Eateries Continue To Expand

🕒 Mar 11, 2012 💬 No Comments 👤 by ADMIN

National restaurant chains continue to forge ahead with expansion plans, including a growing presence throughout the tri-county market.

Subway's newest store will be located near Barry University and Miami Country Day School. The 1,557 lease at 11007 NE 6th Avenue comes just weeks after the in restaurant chain leased 1,600 square feet at Hammock Town Center, a Publix-anchored shopping center located in the master planned community of The Hammocks in the Kendall area of Miami.

"We are actively searching for 15 more sites in Miami-Dade County," says Matthew Martinez, President and Broker of Beacon Hill Property Group.

Martinez is also representing the expansion efforts of Dickey's Barbeque Pit and The Upper Crust, a Boston-based pizzeria.

"Dickey's is in rapid expansion mode and is in need of quality locations throughout the state of Florida. They are specifically looking for good opportunities that they can complete prior to May 1st," added Martinez. Beacon Hill represented the barbecue chain with their first South Florida location in a 10-year, 2,400 sf deal at Miramar Crossings. Miramar Crossings is a 35,000sf retail plaza located at the intersection of Red Road and Miramar Parkway.

The Upper Crust is seeking opportunities in both Miami-Dade and Broward.

Beacon Hill Property Group has also represented the landlord in recent lease transactions with Yogurtland, Menchie's Frozen Yogurt and Tijuana Flats.
